

DEMO DAY OVERVIEW

Crash Landing On is a game that not only teaches children basic Vietnamese vocabulary, but also introduces real locations operated by people of the same culture. This is a full stack game with a registration, sign up page, and database for user information. This includes data gathered during game play. The user plays as an alien whose ship has crashed, in this scenario, Little Saigon, a line of Vietnamese-owned businesses along Dorchester Ave in Boston, MA.

The alien has lost 6 parts of their ship, and must interact with the locals to find them. This comes with a price, you must purchase something from their business. Through the alien's search, the user learns vocabulary of various common objects from food, to glasses, flowers, and more. Each purchase is brought back to the alien's ship mates and kept in their inventory. The ship parts are also counted along the journey.

SKETCHES

